- 11.1 The Council may amend or revoke this scheme at any time. - 11.2 The effect of the following provisions of this paragraph is to manage the entitlement of councillors to basic or special responsibility allowances where this scheme is revised during the course of the year or where the councillor becomes a councillor or ceases to be a councillor during the course of a year.
- 11.3 If the revision of this scheme changes the sum to which a councillor is entitled as a basic or special responsibility allowance, then in relation to each of the periods
- (a) beginning with the year and ending on the day preceding the day of which the revision comes into force in that year, or
- (b) beginning with the day on which the revision comes into force and ending on the day preceding the day on which the next revision comes into force or (or if there is no revision) with the year.
- the member's right to such an allowance will be the entitlement to receive that part of the allowance under this scheme to which he/she is eligible during the relevant period and which is the same percentage of the total sum as is the number of days in that period to the number of days in the year.
- 11.4 Where a member's term in office begins or ends other than at the beginning or the end of the year, his/her entitlement to a basic or special responsibility allowance will be the entitlement to receive that part of the allowance which is the same percentage of the total sum as is the number of days he/she is in office to the number of days in that year.
- 11.5 Where this scheme is revised in accordance with sub-paragraph 11.3, and where a councillor's term in office does not last throughout the term noted in sub-paragraph 11.3(a), his/her entitlement to a basic or special responsibility allowance will be the entitlement to receive that part of the allowance which can be ascribed to each such term (decided in accordance with that sub-paragraph) which is the same percentage of the total sum as is the number of days he/she is in office, to the number of days in that period.

12 Claiming and receiving payments.

- 12.1 A written claim must be submitted for travelling and subsistence allowance by the end of the first full week following any month. - 12.2 A claim for allowances must include, or have attached to it, a statement by the member claiming the allowance that he/she has not, and will not, make any claim in respect of the matter referred to except under this scheme.
- 12.3 Allowances will be paid monthly on a date stipulated by the proper officer and in twelve instalments in the case of basic, special responsibility and co-optees allowances.
- 12.4 Where the entitlement to receive an allowance begins or ends during a month the payment to the member must be adjusted in order to ensure that the sum received during the year does not exceed the sum to which he/she is entitled under paragraph 11.
- 12.5 A care allowance will be paid monthly following receipt of an application.
- 12.6 Where an allowance has already been paid in relation to any period when the member is suspended or partially suspended or ceases to be a member of the Council, or is not entitled in any other way to receive the allowance in relation to that period, the Council will require repayment of that part of the allowance as appertains to that period.
