

2.5 How well do learners achieve?

KS3 Standards 2008

KS3 results are presented as information only. Departments judge pupils' attainment on the basis of the year's work, specific assessment tasks and tests. The pupils do not sit the same tests or the same assessment tasks and teachers do not meet regularly to moderate their pupils work with other departments. Teachers can refer to the publication, 'Measuring Progress in Religious Education' (Gwynedd and Anglesey 2001) in order to identify features of specific attainment targets. Optional Assessment Materials for Religious Education were distributed by ACCAC in 2005. These offer exemplar tasks and assessment guidelines for teachers. The Welsh Assembly Government does not collect religious education data but CYNNAL has collected pupils' end of KS3 attainment levels in religious education since 1999.

Very good results

- 197 candidates, 144 girls and 53 boys, which is considerably more than the 144 who sat the examination last year.
- Pupils from 12 Gwynedd schools (14) sat the full GCSE course and numbers vary from 7 in one school to 29 in the other.
- The girls' results are slightly better than the boys' results.
- 99.5% pupils succeeded to achieve a GCSE grade (full course) with 74.6% achieving grades A*-C. 31.1% of the candidates achieved grades A*/A.
- The average subject score of 5.4 is slightly higher than the score of 5.2 for the other subjects.
- The average subject score achieved by the girls (5.5) is slightly higher than their average score in other subjects (5.3), and the average subject score achieved by the boys (5.2) is slightly higher than their average score in other subjects (5.1).
- The three year trend is encouraging.

Comments

On the whole, good results.

- 158 pupils, 108 girls and 50 boys which is less than the previous year, which was 163. There were 126 candidates in 2006, a trend which suggests that the short course continues to be a popular choice for schools.
- Pupils from 8 Gwynedd schools (14) sat the GCSE short course and the numbers range from 8 in one school to 34 in another school.
- The three year trend suggest that standards are declining – perhaps the increase in the number of candidates is a factor. Some schools have entered candidates for the first time this year.
- The girls' results are better than the boys' results.
- 98.1% candidates were successful in achieving a GCSE (short course) grade, with 63.9% gaining a A* - C grade. 24.7% of candidates have gained a A*/A grade.

Sylwadau

Disappointing results.

- 8 candidates, 6 girls and 2 boys – this is disappointing in comparison to the 25 candidates entered in 2007.
- Candidates entered from 4 secondary schools with numbers ranging from 1 to 3 candidates.
- 96% achieved and A Level grade.
- The mean subject score is 67.5 which is a lower than the 70.6 in other subjects.
- The boys' results are better than the girls' results. The boys' subject score (110) is higher than the score for other subjects (103.3) and the girls' mean subject score (53.3) is lower than the mean score for other subjects (60.0).
- The three year trend shows a decline in the percentage gaining A to C grades.
