- (ii) Ysgol Llanbedrog
- (iii) Ysgol Llidiardau, Rhoshirwaun
- (iv) Ysgol Manod
- (v) Ysgol Nefyn
- (vi) Ysgol Dolgellau

Reported: (a) Reported by the Humanities Adviser that four primary school in Gwynedd had been inspected since the previous meeting of this Committee and one of those schools had received an inspection in Religious Education as a specific subject. The remainder had been inspected on key question 2 that refers to "How well do the learning experiences meet the needs and interests of learners and the wider community"? It was noted that three of the schools had received grade 2 and one school had received a grade 1 from the Inspectors.

Reference was made to the reports received on the Schools Self-evaluations and the Heads were thanked for their cooperation and honesty in the way they had noted their targets for the coming year.

(b) By several members, that the self-evaluations were very useful as managerial tools and it was heartening to see Heads providing them. In addition, Ysgol Llanbedrog was congratulated on what appeared in the self-evaluation of the intention to develop the research skills of learners. It was felt that this was a way of developing the language skills of the learners as well as the religious connection through the medium of Welsh.

Resolved: To receive and note the contents of the inspections and the self-evaluations and in accordance with procedure to request that the Education Officer sends a letter to the above schools congratulating them on their success and to note SACRE's appreciation of the efforts made by them in achieving the grades.

6. REPORT OF THE HUMANITIES ADVISER

A presentation in slide format was given by the Humanities Adviser on the types of materials recently published for the primary sector together with some that had been discussed in teacher training courses.

Specific reference was made to a series of books prepared for the primary sector, published by the National Religious Education Centre, Bangor namely 'Exploring World Faiths'. Another series welcomed by teachers was by Gavin Craigen and his wife who focused on asking important questions about religion. These series offered many opportunities and learning experiences for pupils and set the questions within the current context.

A very beneficial day was held in Meirionnydd when all the teachers came together to discuss the Agreed Syllabus and they looked through books and worked together to develop specimen plans.

As part of the training the book exploring the Orthodox Church was used and the teachers and the Humanities Adviser were welcomed by Father Deiniol on a visit to the Orthodox Church in Blaenau Ffestiniog.

Reference was made to the types of themes discussed in the books and the types of questions that teachers can formulate in order to seek clarification as well as to seek the views of pupils stemming from having to find evidence for their answers. It was discussed how pupils can research whilst they visit places of worship etc bearing in mind ways of undertaking enquiries.

In response to a comment by a member regarding if it would be useful for teachers to produce a game with a religious education element for pupils. The Humanities Adviser explained that it was easy to produce a game when factual questions are discussed but it was difficult for many teachers especially for those without any religious education background.

A member noted that the use of a video would be beneficial to have a visual record of the pupils' discussion. In response, the Humanities Adviser and the teachers representative acknowledged that it would be a challenge for teachers in the future if they are to permit pupils to use modern technology such as mobile phones in the class to film in order to input the information onto the school's site. Schools tended to be very strict with the use of mobile phones by pupils but some schools in England had ventured to tackle this challenge for pupils to use modern technology in the classroom.

Resolved: To receive, note and thank the officer for the interesting presentation.

7. WALES SACRE ASSOCIATION

Submitted: (a) Draft minutes of a meeting of the Wales SACRE Association held on 7 November 2008 in Cwmbrân.

(c) A Code of Practice for elections in June 2009 for the two seats on the Executive Committee of the Wales SACRE Association with a request for nominations from representatives from Gwynedd SACRE.

Reported: By the teachers' representative in relation to the disappointment stated in the minutes of the Wales SACRE Association regarding representation from schools and colleges in the conference held on 4 October 2008, that it was unreasonable to expect members of school staff to attend conferences on a Saturday. It was necessary to look at the possibility of holding them during the week and it would then be a matter for the school to consider releasing staff if funding allowed.

In addition, the need to nominate representatives from amongst the Gwynedd SACRE members was discussed to attend meetings of the Wales SACRE Association and the Humanities Adviser stressed that there was a right to nominate one representative from each faction of the membership.

Resolved: (a) To receive and note the contents of the minutes.

(b) To note the date of the next meeting of Wales SACRE Association.

(c) To nominate Mr Rheinallt Thomas for the empty seat on the Executive Committee of the Wales SACRE Association.
