74 Provision for spiritual, moral social and cultural development is good. In all aspects of school life, comprehensive understanding of honesty, fairness and respect is provided for learners. Collective worship complies with statutory requirements and time is given to reflect on the very relevant matters that arise. Cultural development is effectively encouraged in many areas of the curriculum, and there are strong links with other countries, such as Japan. The collective worship sessions and their studies in art and religious education make an important contribution to learners' spiritual development.
