INTRODUCTION

The Committee was established in 2001 under the Local Government Act 2000. The main role of the Committee is to promote and maintain high standards of conduct by the councillors and co-opted members of Gwynedd Council, and community and town councils in Gwynedd. It does so in many ways:

- Assisting the councillors and co-opted members to follow the Members' Code of Conduct
- Advising the authority regarding adopting or amending the Members' Code of Conduct
- Monitoring the implementation of the Members' Code of Conduct
- Advising, training or arranging training for councillors and co-opted members on matters relating to the Code of Conduct
- Determining complaints referred to it by the Public Services Ombudsman for Wales that members have breached the Code of Conduct
- Considering applications made by members for dispensations to allow them to participate in discussions despite them having a prejudicial interest under the Code
- Considering complaints referred to it under Gwynedd Council's local resolution procedure.
- Overseeing the Gwynedd Council Members Gifts and Hospitality Policy

COMMITTEE MEMBERS

Though the Standards Committee is one of the committees of Gwynedd Council, the majority of its membership does not have any connection with the Council or local government ('Independent Members'). It also has a member who represents the interests of the community councils ('Community Committee Member'), as well as three elected members from Gwynedd Council. The Chair and Vice-chair of the Committee must be Independent Members.

Independent Members

Linda Byrne (member from 2012 - 2015)

Linda has lived in north Wales for ten years and now works at the Citizens Advice Bureau in Caernarfon as a volunteer. Her husband is Welsh and 3 of her grandchildren are Welsh speaking. She has lectured in colleges of further education in the north east of England and in Wales, before becoming a Student Disability Adviser at Durham University and subsequently Bangor University. She served as a Town Councillor for six years and a Borough Councillor for eight years in Sedgfield, Co. Durham.

Margaret E Jones (member since 2012)

Originally from Llandrillo yn Rhos, Margaret has spent most of her life in Chwilog. She taught at Ysgol Abersoch for 32 years, including 14 as headmistress. She is a deacon in Eglwys yr Annibynwyr Siloh, Chwilog, was Chairman of the Council of the Union of Welsh Independents for 3 years and is also a former President of the Union. She was a member of Gwynedd Community Health Council and Vice Chairman until the reorganisation in 2010. She is also Chairman of the Chwilog Eisteddfod.

Dr Einir Young (member since 2012)

Einir is Director of Sustainability at Bangor University and her Department is in the process of being restructured to take a lead as the corporate focal point for sustainable development at the University. One of Einir's main interests is to facilitate discussion around the conflicts that can arise from trying to strike the balance between economic, social and environmental considerations in every decision we make as businesses, organisations and individuals. This is becoming an increasingly important consideration in Wales in the wake of the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015. Many bodies now have a statutory duty to adopt the principle of sustainable development in all their decisions. Maintaining standards is as important to sustainability as recycling and saving energy and she welcomes the opportunity to contribute to and chair Gwynedd's Standards Committee.

Jacqueline Hughes (member since 2015)

Jackie lives in Nantlle with her husband Ian, 3 daughters, grand daughter and a very lively dog. Originally from the Wirral, she qualified as a diagnostic radiographer in 1987 after studying at Guys Hospital School of Radiography. After settling in North Wales with her young family, she joined the staff at Ysbyty Gwynedd. Jackie's career in Bangor has advanced both as a radiographer and as an industrial relations representative. She is currently the Staff Side Chair for the Betsi Cadwaladr Health Board as well as being the local society representative for most of the radiographers in North Wales. She has been President of the Society and College of Radiographers and was instrumental in developing the response to the Francis Report, and subsequently a new code of conduct for radiographers. She believes that any one working in public life must maintain a high level of personal standards in order to be credible to the public.

David Wareing (member since 2015)

In 2014 David relocated from Lancashire to Groeslon following his retirement from Merseyside Police. He served for 26 years in a variety of roles with his last posting being to the Force Operations Department at HQ. This position involved the planning and delivery of large-scale public events, public safety during major Police operations and the reduction of police support to outside agencies through greater partnership working. David specialised in risk assessment and ensuring compliance of relevant Health and Safety legislation working within the legal framework. David represented Merseyside Police on all five Safety Advisory Groups that covered the Force Area. He firmly believes that the actions of those in public office must be both transparent and accountable.

Aled Jones (member since 2016)

THE COMMITTEE'S WORK DURING 2015-2016

The Committee's work over the year has included the following (the Committee's full work programme can be seen in Appendix 1):

Cases heard by the Standards Committee

Hearings were held to consider one complaint that elected members had breached the Code of Conduct.

Councillor Julian Kirkham, Arthog Community Council

Censure for breaching paragraph 6(1) (a) of the Code of Conduct (not to behave in a way which brings a member's office or the authority into disrepute)

Other Complaints

The Committee is also informed of those complaints not referred to it for decision. Summaries can be found in Appendix 2.

Dispensations

The Code of Conduct for Members provides that a councillor cannot participate in a discussion if he/she has a 'prejudicial interest'. However, a member has a right to apply to the Committee for permission to participate despite having this interest, i.e. dispensation.

The Committee considered two applications for dispensation during this period. Both applications were turned down.

Training on the Code of Conduct

The Committee decided that training on the Code of Conduct should be offered to members and clerks of the county's community and town councils. Four sessions were held in October 2015, in Pwllheli, Caernarfon, Dolgellau and Bala. The training was given by the Monitoring Officer and the Senior Solicitor (Corporate) and representatives from 30 of the 64 town and community councils attended.

North Wales Standards Committee Forum

The North Wales Standards Committee Forum gives representatives of all north Wales authorities' standards committees the opportunity to meet. The purpose of the forum is to enable the area's standards committees to discuss and share ideas, good practices and resources and also provide a joint opinion on a national level. The Chair and Vic—chair of the Committee attend the meetings.

Appendix 2

The Committee was informed of the following decisions by the Ombudsman in relation to allegations that county and community and town councillors had breached the Code of Conduct:

Allegation	Decision
Complaint that a community councillor failed to declare an interest.	No investigation. No evidence that councillor was acting in his capacity as a councillor at the time.
That a councillor had failed to fulfil the financial obligations of a contract and was abusive to the complainant. That he impersonated another person and improperly traded his contracts through another person.	No investigation. Insufficient evidence provided to substantiate the councillor's involvement. The Ombudsman will not investigate unless there is reasonably strong evidence to suggest a member had breached the code.
That a councillor had sent an e-mail referring to members of the public present at a Planning Committee containing language that was racist and offensive.	No investigation. He did not believe the words used to be racist considering the context in which they were used. However it was likely that their use could be a breach of the code in that the councillor appears not to have shown respect and consideration for others as required under para. 4(b) of the code. However even if proven, the Ombudsman did not believe that it would lead to a sanction being imposed.
That a councillor had sent an e-mail agreeing with the contents of the e-mail referred to in para 2.7 above and had therefore acted in an abusive and racist manner himself.	No investigation. The councillor was expressing an opinion, and the way in which he did so did not breach any part of the code.
That a councillor had trespassed on the complainant's property and argued with him and took hold of his finger and bent it back. The Police attended.	No investigation. No evidence that the councillor was acting in his capacity as a councillor. Ombudsman also noted that the police had been called.

Complaint that a town councillor had taken part in a discussion on a matter in which she had a prejudicial interest.	No further steps to be taken. Although there was evidence to suggest that a breach of the code had taken place, the Ombudsman was not persuaded that the Standards Committee would impose a sanction in the circumstances.
Member had sent an e-mail to a local organisation, purporting to express the community council's views, without its authorisation.	Standards Committee concluded that there had been a breach of the code and imposed a censure.
A complaint against a county councillor by a member of the public that he had mounted a local campaign in relation to a particular issue and had misled council officers in relation to local circumstances.	No investigation – the complainant had not provided sufficient evidence to substantiate the complaint.
Complaints by four individuals arising from the same incident. Complaints that a county councillor had made serious and false allegations about individuals who had been taking part in a protest.	No investigation – the member had the right to freedom of expression and that right was enhanced when the comments made are political in nature. As an elected member he was entitled to the freedom to share his political views relating to the event in question.
The councillor had terminated a telephone call made to the complainant in relation to an incident where damage was caused to the complainant's property.	No investigation.  Insufficient information provided to substantiate the complaint and the Ombudsman will not investigate unless there is reasonably strong evidence to suggest a breach of the code.
That the councillor's behaviour had been discriminatory and aggressive towards a local group during a meeting of the town council while discussing an application for funding for that group.	No investigation.  From the evidence available it did not appear that the matters alleged constituted a breach of the code. The councillor was entitled to ask questions and request verification of details for applicants for funding from the council as part of his duties as an elected member.

A complaint, by a fellow town councillor, that the councillor had used his camera to bully and harass him on two separate occasions and that he had abused him verbally on several occasions.	No investigation. At the time of some of the alleged conduct, the individual was not acting as a councillor but as a private individual. The Code of Conduct only applies when a councillor is acting as a private individual in very specific circumstances, which did not appear to apply in this case. The complainant was unable to provide supporting evidence in respect of the other aspects of the complaint.
